

Judge Denies Bias in Trial Of Red Slayers

Denounces Publications Abroad Saying Radicalism Was Dragged In at the Sacco-Vanzetti Trial

Defendant Injected Issue

Dedham Courthouse Under Heavy Guard; Plea for New Trial Is Continued

Dedham, Mass., Oct. 29.—Judge Webster Thayer to-night denounced as absolutely false a statement which, he said, had been published overseas that the jury at the trial of Nicolo Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, convicted of a double murder during a highway robbery at South Braintree last year, was instructed that it must convict them because they were Italians and radicals.

Immediately after he had continued for a week the hearing for a new trial for the men who, since their conviction, have been the subjects of bomb, speaking and marching demonstrations in Europe and South America, Judge Thayer read his statement.

Judge's Statement
In the Norfolk County courthouse, under the heaviest armed surveillance in its history, with mounted state constabulary patrolling the vicinity, motorcycle police held in reserve and a score of uniformed Boston policemen with rifled guns stationed about the structure and grounds, Judge Thayer said:

"These cases seem to have assumed a state, national and international interest. Overseas a statement was published that the presiding justice (Judge Thayer) said to the jury that these men must be convicted because they were Italians and radicals. That statement was absolutely false. That was published through ignorance or malice."

"I have labored to keep out of this case every reference to anarchy or radicalism of any kind, and succeeded in keeping it out until Mr. Vanzetti himself took the witness stand. The defense raised the issue of whether the consciousness of guilt said to have been shown by these defendants was consciousness of guilt of the crime of which they were accused or consciousness of guilt of radicalism, with a fear of deportation from the country."

"I want it made clear that I stated to the jury in my charge: 'In the administration of our laws, criminal or civil, there is and should be no discrimination between classes of society. Under our law all classes, poor or rich, learned or illiterate, radical or conservative, foreign or native born, enjoy the same rights and privileges. I therefore beseech you not to allow the fact that these defendants are Italians to influence you. They have the same rights as though their ancestors came over in the Mayflower.'"

"The statement because I feel that, in view of what is happening abroad and because of the situation that may exist, the people of this commonwealth should know the statement that their servant made to the jury in the trial of these cases."

Counsel Assails Court
Fred H. Moore, chief counsel for the defense, assailed the court's ruling during the trial that reference to Sacco's or Vanzetti's radical beliefs should be kept out of the evidence, characterizing what the court said as "Greek gifts."

Judge Thayer interrupted to ask if Mr. Moore did not recall having said, when the court ruled on the radicalism matter, that defense counsel would greatly appreciate the ruling.

Mr. Moore denied it, but said that one of his colleagues might have done so. Judge Thayer here took issue with Mr. Moore, saying that the court's exact ruling was "that no evidence of the defendants' radical activities or opinions, or the previous conviction of Vanzetti for an East Bridgewater attempted highway robbery, would be allowed during the present trial, until the defendants released such matter themselves." This, he said, they did when they took the witness stand.

Legion's Report To Urge Exclusion Of the Japanese

Committee, After Inquiry, Asserts Immigrants Are Unassimilable and Federal Government Should Act

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 29.—Practical exclusion of the Japanese immigrant by a new international agreement, based upon mutual respect and reciprocal in nature, is recommended in the report of the American Legion's Oriental committee, to be submitted to the national convention of the Legion here next week, it was announced to-night.

The report, a statement by the committee says, is the result of exhaustive investigations made by the committee at the direction of last year's convention.

The report describes Japan's immigrants as "unassimilable." "The instances in which the Japanese in other countries have become assimilated," the report says, "are almost non-existent."

"We feel strongly that the handling of this question is a matter that should be dealt with by the national government rather than by state governments and we believe that the state governments feel the situation themselves. We are sure it is a fundamental right of the United States to say who may, and may not be immigrants."

An army of former service men began to descend upon Kansas City today for the annual convention of the Legion which opens next Monday. The foremost foreign military leaders of modern times are among those en route here to be guests of the legion, including Marshal Poch of France, commander in chief of the Allied armies; Lieutenant General Baron Jacques, of Belgium; General Armando Diaz, of Italy, and Admiral Earl Beatty, of Great Britain. Marshal Poch is expected Monday, accompanied by General Pershing. Vice-President Calvin Coolidge, representing President Harding, will head the American delegation of notables at the convention.

To-day's work dealt mainly with arrangements for the parade Tuesday, which officials said would be more than seven miles long and include 40,000 or more marchers.

While the third national convention of the Legion is in progress, wives, sisters, mothers and sweethearts of many of these same men will meet at the first national convention of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion. The principal purpose of the women's convention is to perfect organization of the auxiliary.

$100,000 Blessed Sacrament Altar Is Being Installed

Shrine for Perpetual Adoration Soon Will Be in Place for Worshippers in St. Jean Baptiste Church

To enthrone the Blessed Sacrament for perpetual adoration, the most costly and next to the largest altar in the United States is being installed in the Church of St. Jean-Baptiste, Seventy-sixth Street and Lexington Avenue, a church of the congregation of the Blessed Sacrament, and the only church in the city where there is perpetual adoration.

The altar, which is being so built as to give the effect of a throne, will cost $100,000, and has been nearly three years in the planning. It is being executed by Gorham & Co., on the ideas of the Rev. Father J. A. Paule, assistant rector, and an authority on ecclesiastical architecture, and the former rector, the Rev. Father A. Letellier.

All the designs were made in this country, but the sculpture was executed in Italy. The sections are now at the church ready for assembling, a task that will require three months.

The altar will be forty-seven feet high, twenty-eight feet wide and twenty-six feet deep. It is of Italian Renaissance design, the altar proper being approached by a flight of five steps of marble. The central panel contains "The Lord's Supper," carved in marble, after the masterpiece of Di Vinci, and on either side of this are panels of St. Matthew and St. John.

Another base course is of Botticelli marble, ornamented with mosaic panels containing ecclesiastical symbols, and the door of the Tabernacle is of bronze studded with precious and semi-precious stones. The throne for the Mon-strance is of bronze and is surrounded by adoring angels.

Above the altar rises the baldachino, supported by twelve-foot solid columns of convent sienna and red Verona marble. The inside will be finished entirely in mosaic and will contain figures of various saints. The canopy above the altar will be of velvet and ermine.

Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament never ceases in the Church of St. Jean-Baptiste. Priests are constantly in attendance and prayer, and on the last Saturday of every month the Nocturnal Adoration Society gathers in designated groups throughout the day and night to pay homage.

This church also is known for cures which have been effected with a relic of St. Anne which it possesses.

Death Threat Sent Priest

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 29.—A note threatening death unless he placed $500 on his church steps was received last Tuesday by the Rev. Patrick A. Flanagan, pastor of a Catholic church, it was learned to-day. The matter was reported to the police. The priest said he was not alarmed.

Seven Students Robbed And Beaten in Hold-Up

Handball Game Interrupted by Five Armed Bandits; Victims Identify Prisoner

Seven young men who are students at Woods Business School, Brooklyn, were playing handball Friday afternoon against a red brick wall in a yard at 88 Essex Street when five young men sauntered into the yard and began watching.

The playing came to an abrupt end when the five produced revolvers and the leader suggested that the seven stop their exercise long enough to line up against the red brick wall.

The hold-up men, fingering their revolvers, then went through the pockets of the victims, collecting a considerable amount of currency, several watches and rings. The loot didn't seem to please them, it is said, and after they had cleaned out their victims they gave them a beating, and departed.

The students, according to the police, were Nicholas Doukis, 59 Avenue B, who lost $30 and a $50 watch; Izzy Braunstein, of Brooklyn; Hyman Schoonfeld, of Brooklyn; Samuel Snyder, of 1427 Fifty-second Street, Brooklyn, who lost $75 and his watch; Harry Folinsky, same address, who lost $12 and his watch; David Dvanitsky, of 91 Orchard Street, and Sidney Gallin, of 1147 Fifty-fourth Street, Brooklyn.

Several of them went to Police Headquarters yesterday, according to the police, and identified Samuel Fruchtman, of 82 Essex Street, as one of the five who had robbed the seven. Fruchtman was picked from a group of twenty-five prisoners, according to the police. He was arrested at Essex and Delancey streets and locked up at headquarters, charged with assault and robbery.
